Jonah Kettleborough we were really impressed with your mask you made this week, you've been a very resilient learner!

Charlie Grabke you set yourself a challenge in handwriting this week and you surpassed yourself with your achievement!

Tom Riley you've spent time thinking about your word choices in literacy this week, and we enjoyed hearing your lovely adjectives.

Celeste Shields you always try your best, you're a mature member of Fox Class and a kind friend. You always set yourself challenges and we are impressed with your attitude.

Alanna Luxton you continue to request more challenging work and strive to produce work of the highest quality.

Well done everyone!!

As the cold weather continues, do please take care in the car park and in School Close, both of which can become very icy.

Next Parent Voice meeting is next week at 3pm on Wednesday 27th. Everyone is welcome.

This week we have our SIAMS inspection. This will look at how effective the Christian ethos of our Church School is on our children and young people, and how distinctive our Christian character is. We'll let you know the result of that inspection when we can. You can see our previous inspection report on our website.

Thank you for your part in helping the children look smart and well presented each day.

A reminder please—if you are running late, please still park at the bottom of the drive and walk up. This is for the safety of the children. Only staff and deliveries should come up the hill.
