Lexie Downes—you've shown great imagination this week. We've loved seeing you write such lovely stories and using those skills.

Jacob Holme—your readiness to learn this week has been so impressive. You've worked really hard and been a great role model.

Samuel Fisher—you're a resilient learner and you challenge yourself every day. Your word choices are so entertaining and you take such care with choosing those words. It's lovely to see you enjoying yourself in the classroom.

Fea Riley—you set a really high standard of work this week and really challenged yourself! We are really impressed!

Holly Jefferies—you've shown great enthusiasm and commitment to all your learning and worked really hard.

It's Dorset Residential week for our Stag class— you can see some of their antics on Twitter!

After School clubs got off to a bang last week—thanks for all your enthusiasm! All the dates are on the website.

One of our EYFS staff, Polly Bennett, was able to take a sabbatical this year to New Zealand and she has decided to extend that leave. We wish her all the very best with her antipodean adventure! We ran a series of interviews last week for her replacement and will bring you news on that shortly. We're grateful to our sister schools in the Federation for making it possible to accommodate additional staffing this academic year.

Good luck to everyone taking part in the Exmoor Challenge this Saturday! You've all trained so hard for it—well done on showing such commitment! Fingers crossed for good weather on the day. Thank you to Josie Wensley and all the parent helpers—without whom this Challenge wouldn't happen. Enjoy it!!
